Welcome to RaNic Golf Club!

RaNic Golf Club, formerly known as the Country Club of Ithaca was founded in 2020 by the Whittaker family. The owners, Sean and Jennifer Whittaker, were inspired by their two children Rachel and Nicholas Whittaker to rename the Golf Club with the ship name of "RaNic". RaNic's mission is to shift from a country club perspective towards a more inclusive semi-private Golf Club.

During the first half of the 1900s, the clubhouse and golf course changed locations several times in the Cayuga Heights area, moving from Wycoff Avenue to Highland Avenue. In the 1920s, the Club moved again to Triphammer and Jessup Roads and built an 18hole course. In 1958, the Club sold some of its land to Cornell and built a new clubhouse, swimming pool, and the presentday course where it is today. Geoffry Cornish, our course architect, was one of the premiere designers of the time. For additional recreation, tennis courts were added in the 1970s.

One of the main driving factors to becoming a member at RaNic is the new vision of a semi-private golf club where members are provided with access to - banquets, catering, dining, fitness center, golf, pickleball, shopping, social events, summer camps,
